

OPEN ACCESS WITH PLEIADES PUBLISHING

To increase readership and improve the citation indices of your article, you can publish it in Open Access mode in an English-language journal issued by Pleiades Publishing. Instead of a reader paying an access fee to read your article, Open Access articles are available free of charge for everybody worldwide. Unrestricted access allows many more readers and scientists to study and appreciate your research output.

At Pleiades Publishing, all Open Access publications are subject to mandatory peer review and pass through all stages of the editorial process. Similar to all other articles in our journals, Open Access articles are posted on the same SpringerLink platform (hosted by our distribution partner Springer Nature) as ordinary articles but marked Open Access.

WHAT IS OPEN ACCESS?

Open Access articles are permanently available to anyone with Internet access. These articles are not restricted in any way, including full or partial use or dissemination and reproduction on any media, provided the author is given credit in the manner specified by the original work and the publication source is cited.

Open Access publications go through the same selection, peer-review, editorial, and production processes as in the traditional subscription-based publishing paradigm.

The common business model in publishing is based on publishers charging a fee for the reader to gain access to published research output. In Open Access, published results are considered the last, finishing stage of research and they are financed from the same sources as the research itself. Instead of charging readers a fee for access to the content, the publisher is paid by whoever is funding the research or any other authorized organization. A manuscript can be deposited in open access immediately upon its being approved for publication. Even if the authors are often held responsible for payment, they usually do not contribute anything from their own pockets, since this is done by sponsors, scientific foundations, and institutions where the research has been carried out.

WHY OPEN ACCESS?

Maximum visibility and accessibility. Open Access articles become available online free of any restrictions whatsoever; this maximizes their usage and citation.

Authors retain their copyright. By publishing your article in Open Access, you retain the copyright to it to the extent it complies with the applicable Creative Commons license.

Meeting conditions of granting agencies. By publishing the article in Open Access, the author often meets fully or in part the sponsor requirements on article deposition.

OPEN ACCESS LICENSES

Open Access articles are published under the Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International (CC BY, <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/legalcode>) license. The CC BY license grants users rights to unrestricted use, dissemination, and reproduction of a work on any media, provided the author and publication source are cited, a reference to the Creative Commons license is given, and whether any changes have been made to the original work.

The authors or copyright holders unconditionally, in advance, and indefinitely grant third parties the right to use, reproduce, or disseminate the article fully or partially in any format and on any media, provided no substantial errors are made in the publication, the authors of the article are specified, a correct reference is made to the source of the publication, and the bibliographical data have not been altered. If the article is partially reproduced or disseminated, this also must be clearly and in no uncertain terms reflected in the reference.

HOW TO PUBLISH YOUR ARTICLE IN THE OPEN ACCESS.

To publish your article in Open Access, you should prepare and submit your application to info@pleiades.vg. The application must include:

1. The title of the journal to which you are submitting your article.
2. The sponsor of your research.
3. The funding source for Open Access publication (the name and details of the organization that will be the signatory to the agreement about covering the article processing charge (APC)).
4. The contact details of the author who will coordinate the publication process.

Together with your application, you must enclose the Letter of Consent (link) signed by all authors (who thereby confirm their agreement for the article to be published in Open Access and their willingness to pay the APC), as well as the manuscript of your article, prepared according to the journal-specific guidelines for authors and/or in compliance with publisher's rules for authors (link).

After the feasibility of being paid by the funding source has been established, the manuscript is submitted for peer review. Editorial personnel will contact you in case the manuscript requires revision or if it has been rejected for any reason. In order to minimize the likelihood of rejection, make sure that the article is within the journal's scope and complies with the requirements specified in the guidelines for authors (team of contributors, list of accompanying documents, sources used, etc.) If the article receives positive reviews (is accepted for publication), once the APC has been paid, the manuscript undergoes editorial and preprint processing and is then published with the Open Access marking.

If the journal you have selected has a Russian-language version, your sponsor allows it, and the article is originally submitted in the Russian language or has a Russian-language version, you can simultaneously publish the article conventionally in the Russian-language version. To this end, please enclose a filled-in and signed agreement for the Russian-language version available at the publisher's website.

The APC for publishing an article in Open Access mode is US $3000.

- ⚠ The manuscript cannot be accepted without a signed Letter of Content, and it will not appear on the website before receipt of APC payment or a guarantee thereof.
- ⚠ Your decision to publish the article in Open Access is final and cannot be revoked once the final version of the article has been prepared. Your payment can only be refunded if it is discovered that the article cannot be published in Open Access for reasons beyond authors' control while the article is being prepared for publication. In the latter case, the article will be published as an ordinary article.

- ⚠ The APC is not refunded on an author's request nor when the author has not complied with publication rules, including plagiarism, etc.
- ⚠ The APC does not include any additional fees such as the charge for processing full-color illustrations or for substantial revision of an already prepared article or any of its parts.
- ⚠ Each article goes through the standard article-preparation cycle, which includes interim author's proofing (link) and final galley proofing in PDF format.
